

ComSpark

Description:

ComSpark was founded in 1997 as a computer network and electrical cabling company. Its client base grew quickly as it earned a reputation for commitment to service and quality. Today, ComSpark is more than a cabling company, offering a complete range of IT solution services. These include network design, IT management, software development and infrastructure management. ComSpark can offer a complete technology service from electrical and communications cabling all the way to IT systems design and support. We can provide a range of IT Management services that will maximise your IT investment. If specific services are all that you require (eg cabling), that s fine, we can provide a specific service of the highest quality ...
